Memorial Program Wednesday Afternoon

Plans Complete For Memorial Day Program

Ceremonies To Take Place At Memorial At Court House

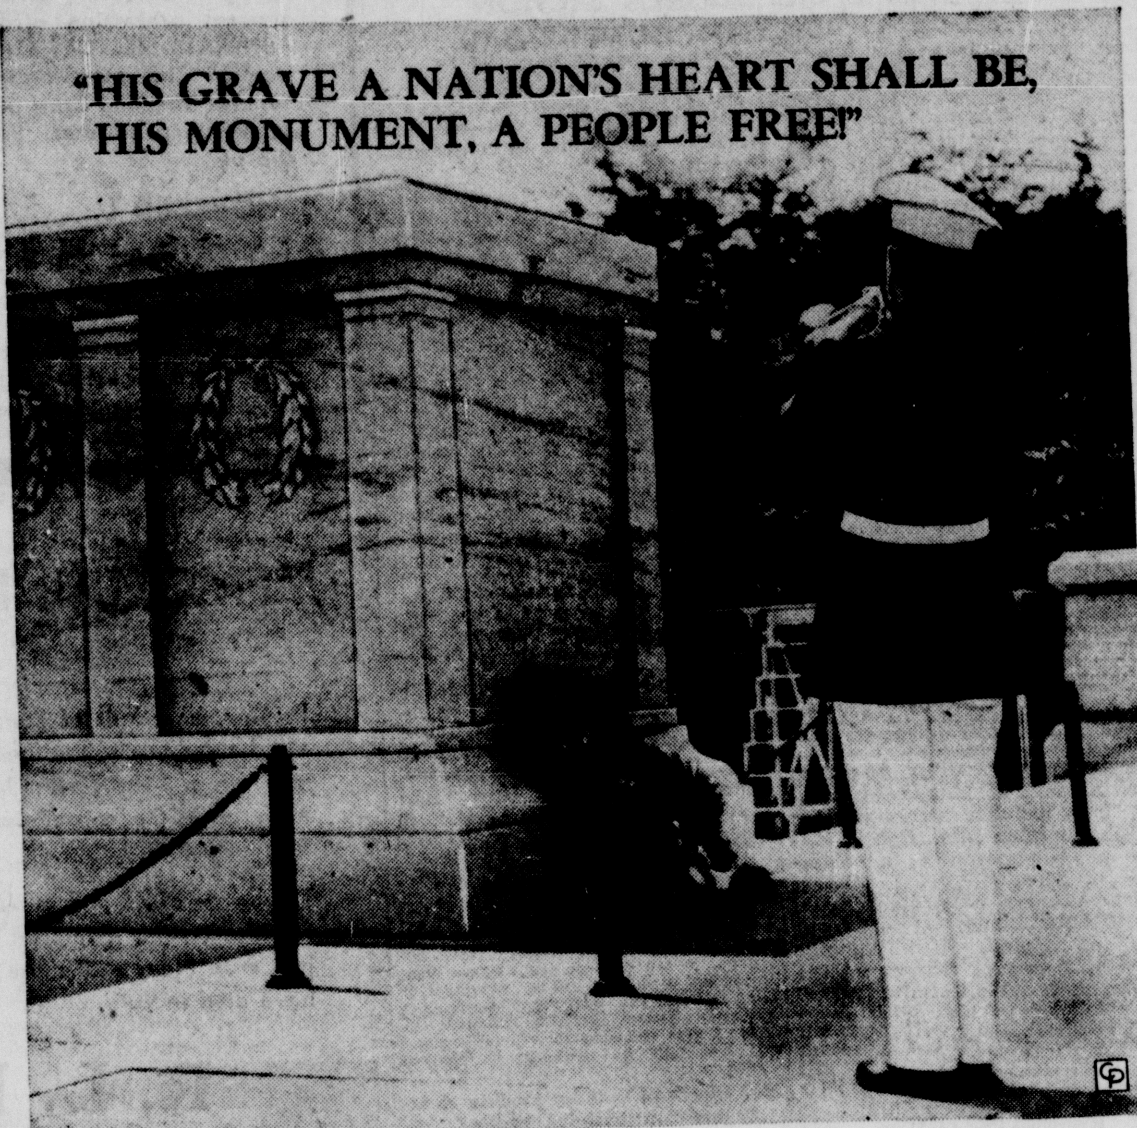

Memorial Day will be observed here Wednesday by the members of the various veteran and patriotic organizations in the traditional manner, but this year's services will be somewhat different in character from those which have been carried out for many years past, when the community's soldier dead have been honored.

The program will be presented at the war memorial at the court house. It will start on arrival of the parade which moves at 2 p. m. The ceremonies will be in the afternoon this year, instead of in the morning, and the long march to Greenwood cemetery for the concluding ceremonies, which has been a part of the observance for many years, will be abandoned this year.

Instead, the participants will march only to the North street bridge, where the water services of the Ladies of the G. A. R. will be presented, concluding the program of the afternoon.

The New Castle Veterans Council, which is sponsoring the Memorial Day program, will incorporate all the traditions of the various veterans organizations that it represents. Attorney Joseph Solomon, a veteran of World War II, will be the speaker. He will be preceded on the program by Rev. T. J. Jones, pastor of the First Congregational church, who will speak at the "Grave of the Unknown Soldier".

Parade Starts At 2 P. M.

Death Toll Report Indicates At Least Twenty Are Killed

BULLETIN

EASINGTON, Eng., May 29.—(INS)—At least 14 men were killed today and 64 others are missing and feared dead as the result of a violent explosion in a pit of the huge Easington Colliery in northeast England.

Rescue workers are digging through a mass of debris in an effort to reach the missing men but hope for their survival is diminishing rapidly.

LONDON, May 29.—(INS)—Six men were known dead and 73 others were listed as missing in an explosion today in a coal mine in northeast England.

The London Evening Standard reported 20 dead in the disaster. A spokesman for the British coal board said that rescue crews had recovered six bodies from the Easington Colliery in Durham county.

A coal board official said: "There is every evidence of a serious disaster."

Two brigades of rescue workers equipped with gas masks labored in relays to determine conditions in the pit where the blast occurred and strove to reach the trapped men.

Several of rescue workers described conditions as "awful".

Believes Germans Are Flying Red Planes In Korea

By DARREL GARWOOD
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—America's first jet ace disclosed today that many German air veterans appear to be among the Communist fighter pilots flying "Mig Alley" in Korea.

Capt. Jim Jabara said that the Russian-made MIG-15 planes are "damn good," about equal to America's swept-wing type and better than earlier U. S. jets.

Jabara declared: "Next to the F-86 Sabre, I would rather fly the MIG than any other fighter."

The Wichita, Kans. flyer, an ace in World War II who became the first jet ace when he shot down his fifth and sixth enemy planes in Korea, May 20, set forth his ideas in the June issue of the Air Force Association's monthly journal.

Jabara said: "All of us would like to know who is actually flying the MIGs. The consensus is that the enemy has two teams."

"The first team, a lot of people think is made up of highly trained Communist and ex-Luftwaffe (German) pilots."

"The second stringers are Chinese and possibly North Koreans."

'Bargain Battle' Begins In New York

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS)—Macy's—The world's largest department store—touched off the "battle of bargains" today by cutting prices six per cent on 5,978 price-fixed items. Its traditional competitor, Gimbel's, immediately sailed into battle under the banner of "nobody, but nobody, undersells Gimbel's."

The markdown in merchandise widened in scope when James Schultz, president of Bloomingdale's, issued a terse communique which said his department store will "follow the policy we have in the past—we won't let anyone undersell us continuously."

Other merchant princes were adopting an attitude of watchful waiting while sending their comparison shoppers out on extended patrols into enemy territory.

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS)—The Columbia Broadcasting System rushed plans today for color television broadcasts starting in New York shortly and extending gradually to 45 other cities on its TV network.

The network set no definite time for the start of its color TV broadcasts but this is expected soon after the decision of the Supreme Court upholding the Federal Communications Commission's approval of the CBS method is forwarded to the Chicago District Court. This waiting period is 25 days.

It was in the Chicago court that an appeal was made against the FCC action.

Will Abandon Sunken Section Of County Road

Highway Department Plans To By-Pass Route 18 Section

Following a day-long conference with department engineers and Pennsylvania railroad officials conducted Monday, it was announced today by Alfred A. Martin, county highway superintendent, that the sunken portion of Route 18 four miles south of the city would be abandoned.

The engineers and railroad officials delved into every phase of the unprecedented county problem but found that there was no other avenue, other than to abandon the disturbed section of road and to build a new section of highway to care for traffic on Route 18.

Stop Fill Work
New Castle Duntile company, holder of the contract for filling in the sink hole, was ordered to end its work after dumping in 7,000 cubic yards of fill material. The fill, which was progressing nicely, began to drop last Thursday and the contractor was asked to postpone the filling process for several days until a decision could be made.

Serious damage was resulting to the tracks and property of the Pennsylvania railroad, approximately 1,000 feet east of the highway section affected adjacent to the Piedmont farm, two miles north of Moravia. Rather than risk any further damage to the railroad property by pouring in more fill materials which were pushing the railroad tracks into odd shapes, it was deemed for the best interest of both the state and the railroad to quit the highway site.

New Section Planned
The next step of the department is to procure a section of property from the adjoining Piedmont farm and proceed to build an entirely new section of road of approximately 600 to 700 feet in length. Following this step, the maintenance forces of the highway department will begin work on the new section.

In the past few days, twelve more windows have been broken in the building, bringing the total for the year to 83 windows. Inside rooms of the school found stones and rocks, indicating the breaking was willful and deliberate.

Gen. Vandenberg Is Continuing His Testimony

May Complete His Role As Witness During Afternoon

By JAMES LEE
(U. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Gen. Vandenberg testified today "it was made clear" to Gen. MacArthur that the controversial January 12 memo on Korean War proposals was for "background" purposes and based upon conditions which never occurred.

The air force chief of staff, testifying before the senate MacArthur committee, conceded that MacArthur was never told that the joint chiefs of staff had withdrawn the proposals.

The Jan. 12 memo was the basis for MacArthur's testimony that the joint chiefs backed his recommendations for ending the Korean war.

Lengthy Explanation
Vandenberg, in a lengthy explanation of the memo, said that when he and Gen. Collins, army chief of staff, discussed the possible courses of action with MacArthur "it was made clear that they were based upon conditions which at the time Gen. Collins and I arrived there (in the Far East) appeared to have dissipated to some extent."

He said MacArthur was told that the study was "based upon conditions as we might find them someday, or which looked as though they might be approaching."

The air leader quoted Collins as telling the Far East commander, "that is not a directive, that is for background."

The subject was brought up by Sen. Hickenlooper (R) Iowa, who asked: "Do you know of any notification that Gen. MacArthur ever had that these tentative proposals and the actions to be taken in connection with them had ever been withdrawn to Gen. MacArthur?"

Reds Attempt Some Resistance To U.N. Advances

Allied Forces Reach South Rim Of Giant Hwachon Reservoir

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN
(Far Eastern Director, I. N. S.)

TOKYO, May 29.—Allied forces reached the south rim of the giant Hwachon reservoir in central North Korea today in an offensive that hacked out further gains up to more than five miles against increased Red resistance.

Tank-led GIs paced the advance to the reservoir's south bank, announced by the U. S. Eighth Army in its Tuesday night communique. Below the prized hydroelectric pool, American and South Korean forces had knocked out two Chinese divisions, inflicting more than 18,000 casualties in three days.

Above Seoul, in the west sector, other American armored task forces smashed north more than five miles Tuesday along North Korean highways leading to the Chorwon-Kumhwa network of vital communications.

Hurdle River Barrier
Northwest of Seoul, South Korean and Greek forces hurdled the Imjin river barrier at the 38th Parallel but then encountered stiff opposition by an enemy battalion. This fighting raged atwart Korea's main rail-highway artery leading up to the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.

The heaviest resistance by reinforced Red troops blazed along the east-central sector. The Eighth Army's latest bulletin said Allied vanguards in the Inje area "adjusted their positions" after "reporting light enemy contact."

This indicated a withdrawal by American spearheads which had pushed beyond captured Inje, four miles north of the 38th. The communique said United Nations units northeast of Inje encountered "small" enemy groups "harassing" the Allied advance from "commanding terrain positions."

Margaret's ship is scheduled to dock at Southampton Saturday afternoon and the President wants to surprise her with a telephone call upon her arrival there.

And where will you go tomorrow, my friend, will you drive, will you walk, will you swim, will you swat a pellet with lousy glee, will you call the court with a vim? Or will you lie to a rocking chair, or a hammock under a tree, or will you fly to a summer spot, down by the rolling sea? For tomorrow's a day for memorial, for rest and a bit of play, and what will you do, or will you stay home, it's cool sixty-three today.

Reds Attempt Some Resistance

000 to 3,000 troops fought savagely to block an American advance on that key junction.

Along North Korea's east coast, however, ROK (Republic of Korea) forces met only negligible opposition as they drove up the shoreline and neared the coastal hub of Kansung, 30 road miles above P'arallel 38.

The Eighth Army bulletin said these units had only "light contact" with Red troops during the day north and northwest of captured Yangyang which is six miles north of the parallel boundary.

At the opposite end of the trans-penninsular front, other ROK forces together with Greek troops, rammed across the Imjin river near the parallel northwest of Seoul.

Heavy Resistance
On the north side of the stream, however, they bumped into heavy resistance by a North Korean Communist battalion, the Eighth Army said.

American troops in the vicinity of Hyon, 11 miles southeast of Inje, hurried northward 7,000 yards—some four miles—during the day without contacting enemy forces, the communists related.

Thus, the bulk of a large Communist formation which had driven more than 25 miles into eastern South Korea through Hyon now had completed its pullback into North Korea, leaving huge casualties behind.

The Eighth Army bulletin said that on the west front, north and northeast of Seoul, American tank-led task forces hammered forward 3,000 to 9,000 yards during the day. These units were driving toward the vital North Korean supply and communications centers of Chongwon and Kumhwa.

Southwest of captured Hwachon, other Allied troops punched out fresh gains of 1,000 yards after overcoming one rearguard unit of 80 Reds who surrendered in a single group.

from the American Legion Home, North Jefferson street, to the war memorial at the corner of Court and Washington streets. The parade will begin at 2 p. m.

In one of the most elaborate settings ever attempted locally for a Memorial Day service, a new tradition in honor of our veterans of this and past generations, will be born.

On the lawn of the Lawrence county court house, a simulated "grave of the Unknown Soldier" will be set up. Here, armed guards will walk past from morning till after the services. Beyond the grave will be a small cemetery with white crosses and the "Star of David" will symbolize the veterans who have died in the past year. Flanking the "cemetery" will be the color guards of the various veterans groups.

"Triple Taps"
For the first time in a local Memorial Day service, a triple taps will be sounded. Following the placing of wreaths by the veterans group, the American Legion firing squad will fire a salute. A bugler stationed before the firing squad will sound "taps." He will be answered by a second and then a third bugler.

Commanders of all veterans groups will be posted on either side of the war memorial. A special area will be reserved for the Gold Star Mothers.

Following the services at the war memorial, the parade will re-group and march to the North street bridge where they will participate in the water services held in tradition each year by the G. A. R. ladies.

Program Outline
The program, with Edward DeCarbo, commander of the New Castle Veterans Council, as master of ceremonies, will open with the national anthem. The members of the recruiting services of New Castle will conduct the flag raising ceremony.

Prayer will be offered by Rabbi Iwan J. Gruen, pastor of the Temple Israel congregation. There will be an introduction of the USWV with a response, followed by a presentation of flowers by the veterans posts.

The song, "My Buddy," will be sung by Floyd Cotton, with Ernie E. Branstetter at the organ. A portion of the program will be turned over for the general public to place flowers at the war memorial. A representative of the Gold Star Mothers will place a wreath at the grave of the Unknown Soldier. Talks by Rev. Jones and Attorney Solomon will follow.

Introducing a new tradition, representatives of all veterans posts will place flowers at each white cross and Star of David in the cemetery. The program will close with a prayer offered by Rev. Joseph Mastrangelo of St. Lawrence church, Hillsville.

However, the communists, along with the left-wing socialists, remained a strong political force. Late returns from the railroad hub city of Bologna, which the government coalition had hoped to capture, indicated a see-saw battle with the communists in the lead at present.

IN MEMORIAM

"That from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

The nationwide celebration of May 30 originated in 1868 with an order of Major General Logan, commander in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. He ordered GAR members to "decorate" the graves of Union soldiers on the thirtieth day of every May.

General Logan probably remembered that one month after the surrender of Lee at Appomattox, citizens of Richmond marched to Hollywood Cemetery to strew flowers on the graves of Civil War soldiers, both Union and Confederate.

The GAR resolved in 1882 that the day might be called "Decoration Day." The latter term, popular until World War I, is seldom heard now. Some Southern states observe separate Confederate Memorial Days on other dates.

Of the more than 2,200,000 who served in the Union armies in the Civil War, seven were alive a week ago. All are more than 100 years of age. On the same date 11 Confederate veterans were still living.

But Memorial Day long ago became more than a day of remembrance for the heroes of the war of 1861-65. The day's ceremonies came to include the honored dead of the Spanish-American War, those of World War I and finally those of World War II—four generations of Americans. And those of the Korean War will also be added.

In many American families, four generations fought in these four wars. And what has been bought with the blood of the heroes of four generations? Cynics may give a cheap and easy answer. But the true answer can be found in a country which, with all its passing trials and errors, stands free and strong and unafraid—a country which has reaped the reward of the gallantry of sons and daughters who preferred dying on their feet to living on their knees.

NINE MILLENNIUMS OLD

Near Lovelock, Nev., in a cavern underneath a cliff, some anthropologists have found what they say are the oldest tools of primitive man yet tagged with dates in this hemisphere. Below the layers of bird and bat guano and the dust deposits of ages scientists from the University of California uncovered spear shafts and wooden objects they identified as not less than 9,000 years old.

That is a long time for wood to last, even in a region as dry as Nevada. And how in the world does anyone think he can guess the age of any organic substance in terms of millenniums?

The answer is that Dr. W. F. Libby, of the Institute for Nuclear Studies, University of Chicago, has devised a method by which the radioactivity of the carbon in an ancient piece of wood, bone or the like indicates its age. He knew this radioactivity decreased a constant rate, reaching the half-way mark at 5,270 years. It was this "carbon 14" index that set the age of the spears as no other means could have done with similar accuracy.

A technical discovery of the first order, this is. In reaching accurately into remote time, the radioactive dating method might be compared with the way the spectroscope reaches into remote space to identify the atomic elements in the stars.

Those Nevada spears, positively known to be 9,000 years old, date back to approximately the time when it is believed water covered the isthmus connecting Asia with Alaska. That is the land bridge men may have used in following wild game to North America. Perhaps the "carbon 14" method will aid in tracking those early Americans as they answered the challenge of "Go East, young man."

PEACE RUMORS

The amazing forward march of U.S. forces in Korea—amazing because it is against an enemy that has vastly greater numbers—has given rise again to rumors that peace negotiations are in prospect. The American public should take a cautious attitude toward these rumors.

There is nothing in the position of the Chinese Communist government to indicate that it is more inclined toward a settlement today than it was on the other occasions when its forces were being pushed back. And in the present state of American public opinion, it is doubtful whether the State department would permit itself to be taken in by phony peace maneuvers.

As long as the Chinese Reds have the manpower to throw into combat it must be assumed that they will keep on fighting, regardless of casualties or loss of terrain.

Every American would like to feel that the enemy has been so badly beaten that he is ready to call it quits on almost any reasonable terms. Unfortunately that is not his way, nor the way of a Moscow master who doesn't care how many Chinese lives are lost.

In the circumstances, it is only possible to keep our powder dry and save our hopes until there is firm basis for them.

Speculation On Adenauer's Trip

World capitals are speculating today as to what may come, if anything, of a visit to London planned by West German chancellor Dr. Konrad Adenauer—the latest move in a current British effort to hasten West European solidarity.

Dr. Adenauer, foreign minister as well as leader of the German federation established under allied auspices at Bonn on the Rhine will be repaying a recent visit by British foreign secretary Herbert Morrison.

The latter has returned to London. He is at present in consultation with prime minister Attlee and other members of the government on the Anglo-Italian oil crisis. But it seems quite certain that despite the gravity of the situation in the middle East, Britain still gives high priority to Germany in questions of the future.

Some Time In July
Tentatively, Adenauer's trip is scheduled for sometime in July. International events may force a postponement. But if he is able to go through with present plans—in other words if the explosion that Iran has been predicting volubly within the past few days does not occur—a London conference of prime importance to the world may be the result.

The constant succession of crises arising from or aggravated by the Korean war have stalled any number of vital European issues.

All are certain to be discussed when Adenauer and Morrison meet in the British capital.

They include, for example, the Schuman plan. That vast conception of a European "New Deal" by the fusion of coal and iron resources, later to be expanded into the fields of transport, electric power, hydro-electricity and the like is moving forward slowly.

Britain's refusal to participate is one stumbling-block. Another is a certain reluctance on the part of German industrialists to afford complete cooperation.

Council Of Europe
Then there is the council of Europe. This organization, established on perhaps idealistic foundations, nevertheless has the support of realists such as Winston Churchill.

Germany—or rather the half of it that is friendly to Democratic principles—has been accorded representation. There is an agenda for discussion which includes such revolutionary moves as elimination of trade restrictions and tariff barriers.

Progress here also has been held up by international uncertainties, the inability of big four deputies who have been meeting in Paris since March 5, and the repeated belief that Soviet Russia is preparing to "start something new" somewhere in the world.

Then, of course, there is the issue of German rearmament, in many respects the crux of continental Europe's problems. It is on this subject that the big four deputies in Paris apparently have bogged down.

Will Not "Tolerate" It
The Russians claim they will not "tolerate" it. The western Democracies affirm that a strong Germany geared to the western system is absolutely essential to prevent aggressive Communism from encroaching upon the entire world.

London's usually informed political publication "Spectator" dwelt on the Morrison-Adenauer talks as follows:

"The British policy and equally the French policy is to promote the progressive restoration of Germany to an equal place among the great powers of Europe."

"Such a policy no doubt entails some risks. Delicate questions such as occupation costs and the conclusion of a treaty with Germany have to be settled."

The magazine then spoke of the threat of increasing Nazism in Germany and underlined the dangers there inherent for Europe and the world.

It might have mentioned that when Adenauer does visit London, he will not act as a predecessor did. That was the late and unlamented Nazi foreign minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop. Adolf Hitler's personal envoy, who shocked staid London and all Democracy by giving the Nazi salute on his arrival in the capital to present his credentials.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

A JOB OLDER CHILD CAN DO

At many a home able-bodied boys and girls over twelve to fourteen rarely or never mow the lawn. While the exercise from moving this lawn might be healthful for some overweight mothers and fathers, the boy or girl old enough who doesn't share in this home responsibility is usually losing in moral education.

Some parents pay the child for mowing the lawn and other jobs at home and thus enable him to earn spending money. His earning this money does help him to acquire money values. But if he is paid for most or all jobs at home, he hardly gains a healthy feeling of needing to share in these responsibilities as a member of the family. These principles I discuss further in my bulletins "Allowances" and "How To Teach Your Child To Help at Home," to be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this paper.

Nagged for Neglect

What often happens is that as the child neglects such jobs as he has been paid for he is nagged and nagged for his neglect and finally given the pay whether he does them or not. Assuming the child has other regular home jobs which he does because he is a member of the family, pay for an extra sizable job like mowing the lawn may be desirable procedure. There are instances, too, in which a job has been done by outside help, when an older child may be eager to take over this job at the same pay. Thus paying this child for such a job may make the transition easier. But in a family in which the income is somewhat limited, the child having grown old enough to do certain jobs hitherto done by outside hired help, may easily see the reasonableness of his taking over some such jobs in case he has always been taken into the family council and confident concerning the several family members. Even a few children of very well-to-do families might in such a manner be induced to assume responsibility for mowing the lawn.

Many a child is given a dull or worn-out lawn mower and dull grass shears. He should have good sharp tools. Also, the wise father or mother often surprises the child who mows the lawn regularly by operating the mower for him occasionally and admire his work, or even provide him with a toothsome morsel of food.

Mowing the Lawn

Whether the child (old enough) takes responsibility for mowing the lawn promptly at regular intervals or does not, if paid or not paid for it, will depend on how well he has learned in earlier years to do regular jobs faithfully about the home.

Of course, few parents can hope always to make this or other jobs about the home so attractive that the child hardly can be kept from doing them. Nevertheless, the parent-child relationship may be so fine as to effect such a result. Anyway, the mowing of the lawn is not at all comparable in importance to how the child and parent feel toward each other in relation to the matter.

Tragic are the times when the parent, trying to coerce the child to mow the lawn, not only fails to make him do this job but also stirs up hate in him for all such jobs, even hate of the parent, especially after the angry parent, finally mows the lawn himself, chiding the child with laziness and inactivity. Rather than have this happen, it were better for the parent to mow the lawn himself in the first place.

YOUTH AND EGGS

Butch will eat an egg any time. He doesn't worry much about the calories and iron and protein which it provides. He just eats it.

An egg has lots of good things for Butch and Grandad. In round numbers an egg shows up something like this:

Calories 100
Vitamin A 500 units
Vitamin B 225 units
Iron 30 mg per kilo
Fat 6 gm

Grandad says that he likes eggs because they don't have any bones. They are not too tough to chew either. He likes goose eggs and duck eggs and guinea eggs and fish eggs.

Bookkeepers don't like goose eggs very well but they don't have to eat that kind.

SLEEP MEDICINE

The sleeping medicine that's best is coming to the close of day. With no vain thoughts disturbing rest.

No loss of pride along the way. No pill that chemists can invent. Excels for sleep a day well spent.

It is a comfortable thought. To settle down without regret. Knowing you've toiled the way you ought.

And every obligation met. No fretting over blunders made. No promised letter still delayed.

There's no barbiturate can bring. So sound a sleep as peace of mind.

And, looking back, remembering. No bitterness that lies behind. A day well spent, through good or ill.

Is better than a sleeping pill. (Copyright, 1951, Edgar A. Guest)

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Often times when Memorial Day rolls around . . . people forget what the day means . . . and thus turn this thoughtful day into something far from the intended. Racing around the country side . . . bringing more tragedy often times to a family. Let's remember this Memorial Day and the men and women for whom the day is dedicated.

It was in 1949 that the Congress of the United States designated June 14th as Flag Day . . . that isn't too far away . . . but the resolution adopted at that time can well be repeated now in time for reading for Memorial Day.

The resolution states that the flag should be displayed on public buildings daily, except in inclement weather, and especially on holidays. The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously. When flown at half-staff, as on Memorial Day, the flag should be hoisted to the peak, then lowered to half-staff.

Displayed over a street, the flag should be suspended vertically with the union to the north on an east-west street . . . to the east on a north-south street. Displayed with another flag, the national flag should be on its own right; with more than one flag, in the center; on a staff with other flags, at the top.

The flag should never be dipped to any person or thing . . . Covering a casket, the flag's union is placed at the head and over the left shoulder. It should be removed before the casket is lowered . . . And this for when the parade passes by. If in uniform, the viewer gives the military salute. Civilian men remove the hat and place it over the heart; women honor it by placing the right hand over the heart.

Tomorrow is May 30th . . . may we all remember those who paid the price.

Washington Calling

(By MARQUIS CHILDS)

Near End Of Year Of Korean War

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The first anniversary of the war in Korea will soon be at hand. That other era, before June 25, 1950, seems now a very long way off.

It was the era of the great illusion. We had a foreign policy. Communism was to be contained everywhere by American strength.

But the strength to carry out this policy was not called into being. On the contrary, America's defense establishment was pared down with the complacent reiteration of the siren word, economy. So a policy that might have made sense became instead an exercise in words—a sort of never-never land of theory.

Cruel Awakening
The attack launched by the North Korean communists provided a cruel awakening. Looking back to that time, which now seems so far distant, one finds it hard to realize why this attack should have seemed so astonishing. The plan of communist aggression was no less a reality in 1948 or 1949 than it was in 1950.

There are many who seem conveniently to have forgotten the atmosphere just before and after the outbreak of the Korean war. It is convenient, since they can denounce the administration then in power for what it did and did not do. If that communist aggression had not been met by force, in spite of the lack of preparation to meet it, the very critics who have been most vociferous in assailing the cost and the conduct of the Korean war would have been loudest in their denunciations of the Truman administration for allowing the South Korean public to go down.

War End In Stalemate
The Korean war, if the current rumors mean anything, may be about to end in a kind of stalemate. One must quickly add, however, that there is no real reason to believe that this is true and, if the war should actually end tomorrow, even those in high place would be almost as surprised as they were when it started. This is an unhappy reflection on the kind of times in which we live.

But one of the grimmest commentaries as the anniversary draws near, and it should be especially noted on this Memorial Day, is that the Korean war has remained for perhaps most Americans something of a little alien, something outside the framework of American tradition and history. That original and now grimly humorous designation of "police action" may have had something to do with it. It seemed in the beginning rather like that long-ago war against the Barbary pirates, an incident in the course of restoring order to a war-torn world.

We should long since have been disabused of any such notion. This has been a brutal, savage, terrible conflict in a rugged country plagued by miserable extremes of weather and inhabited by a people fanatically nationalistic and conditioned to duplicity and cruelty by a half century of Japanese enslavement. American casualties

My barber says as long as our policy for Korea is "wait and see," he's got one for our policy for Iran . . . "stop, look and listen."

He says it's not original, more abandoned-like, but available if caution ever comes back into fashion.

But that was a nice note we got from Iran after busting into the oil dispute . . . in translation it read roughly "have you people ever considered minding your own business?"

All Achesson did was tell them how he thought the dispute should be settled, but apparently they had already decided that for themselves.

At the moment it doesn't appear that we have to get involved in Iran, but it's not too late.

The decision to keep the war in Korea between the white lines until China runs out of Chinese does not mean that we have surrendered the right to get involved elsewhere.

And we can prove it.

The ghost-moth, common in Britain, is so named from the satiny-white of the male and its sudden disappearances.

The home of the Marine Corps commandant, built in 1803, is regarded as the oldest building in Washington, D. C.

Looking Ahead

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Ask Congressional Republicans who's to be the GOP candidate for '52, and the reply increasingly comes up, "Someone like Dirksen."

The someone, of course, means the Illinois Senator himself, for his name seems to spell out the answer to a Republican question that goes back as far as 1940: "Taft, yes—but can he be elected?"

Many thought—and still do—that Taft had given his own answer to the query when he spread-eagled the Democrats last year in Ohio by his 480,879 majority. But the talk is now that Mr. Republican whipped a nobody in Jumping Joe Ferguson, his Democratic opponent; and furthermore, that the presidential virus has made Taft somewhat less than coherent in some of his recent statements. He's coming out for extending the Far East campaign, but for cutting the armed services; for risking war in Asia, but for shunning the same risk in Europe. He says he'll accept the GOP nomination without seeking it, but everybody knows there's a still-hunt on for Taft delegates.

Not On Careful Path

Consistency being the refuge of small minds, nobody ever expects Taft to tread a narrow and careful path. Many and frequent have been the times when Mr. Republican has been more early than wrong in some of his complex thinking. That's reason enough to put a "Handle with Care" sticker on any write-down of the Ohioan's candidacy, but still Republicans are asking: "What's Taft got that Dirksen ain't got?"

Everett Dirksen's got the big, friendly, rumpled, extraverted qualities which so many people yearn for in a candidate. While Taft was whipping Ferguson, Dirksen was knocking out ex-Senator Lucas, the Democratic floor leader. While Taft's strangely sweet but masculine voice has brought something new, different and quite compelling to the GOP side of the chamber.

Taft is Old Guard; Dirksen is hero and bellwether to the Republican freshmen Senators who all Taft has a solid background of skepticism on the Administration foreign policy. Dirksen goes him one better—Dirksen's an ex-globalist, a thoughtful convert to what might be called isolationism. Taft is still Mr. Republican. But until he scotches the still-wiggling rumor that he can't win a national election, there's sure to be Republican talk of "Someone like Dirksen."

Solving Over-Population

Huge Chinese casualties in Korea, while seeming to justify the Administrations' strategy of Operation Killer, are given a much different interpretation by those who claim to understand planned economy a la Russe.

One well-posted agent tells your reporter that the Chinese slaughter meshes perfectly with the Kremlin's solution of China's ancient over-population problem. A year or so ago, as reported in this place, State Department officials were anticipating that the commissars would liquidate the excess coolies by deliberate starvation or other well-laid plans. But the Korean war had delegated the execution to us.

Trading of casualties with China, even at rates of 20 to 1, is a good bargain for the Kremlin, according to sources easily available to the White House. There is little grief at home when a Chinese boy goes off to war. His departure in stark reality means that there's one mouth less to feed in a land of perpetual hunger. No telegram of condolence comes from the war office to the boy's village. And talk about China's loss of "manpower" is meaningless in the Orient where most of the farm and factory work is "woman-power."

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDELS

A man from the "wide open spaces" of Texas criticizes me severely for the "sentimental drive!" I have written about General MacArthur.

He takes three pages to tell me where MacArthur is all wrong and President Truman all right. Then, just so that there may be no misunderstanding, he assures me that he is a Democrat and that history will repeat itself in 1952 with Truman's election.

Whether or not MacArthur is right in his stand on the Korean war is something which I am not qualified to judge.

As a matter of fact, it seems to me that no one at this time is qualified to do that—and so there is just a lot of talking, much of it foolish and irresponsible.

But whether MacArthur is right or wrong, one cannot help admiring him as an American and as a human being.

It was that which made me write about the great impression made on me and all those within my eye-and-ear-shot when he addressed Congress. It was that which made me say—and I saw it with my own eyes—that many hard-boiled legislators and others who listened to him had tears in their eyes. And I was not ashamed to admit to mine.

It is the "sentimental drive!" part of my Texas man's letter that riled me.

I hope to God that I shall never, as long as I live, cease being sentimental.

"Sentiment," according to Webster, is "the mental attitude, thought or judgement permeated or prompted by feeling or emotions."

Such a "mental attitude, thought or judgement" is the very foundation of American life.

Without them there could be no love, no charity, no freedom. Without feeling or emotions all our judgement, all our actions would be the same as the cold, commercial, cruel calculations of the Soviet Union and other dictators.

Without feeling or emotions there could be no religion.

In many phases of our history our country could have made decisions that would have brought us much more gain, more territory, more advantages if we had laid emotions and feelings aside.

In every war we fought and won, emotions and feelings sat at the council table. At every such council table these two were the co-signers of the peace treaty.

Unfortunately "sentiment" is often misunderstood for weakness by those who have none of it themselves.

The opposite is true. Only the strong can afford to be sentimental.

The weak must pose as strong. So they substitute cruelty for compassion; coldness for warmth of heart; brutality for tenderness.

They may be strong physically or powerful at arms.

But the typical American is just enough of a sentimentalist to believe in the invincible power of the human soul and in the irrefutable fact that only RIGHT makes lasting MIGHT.

It really all comes down to the Golden Rule: "As ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

But do not let us be like the fellow about whom William Blake wrote: "He has observ'd the golden rule. Till he's become the golden fool."

THE BOY WHO DIDN'T REALIZE THE DIFFICULTIES INVOLVED IN BECOMING A COWHAND

Woman Robbed Of Sum Of $530

Fleeced Of Funds By Confidence Pair

Mrs. Cornelia Murphy, 50, of 1002 South Jefferson street, is minus $530, because she trusted women she did not know. Police are searching for the two confidence females who were guilty of artifice about noon Monday.

Mrs. Murphy told police she was in front of the City Pharmacy when a tall, slender woman, engaged her in conversation, who was attired as a gypsy, and claimed to be from Alabama.

After some conversation another woman, small in stature, approached them, said she had found $2,200. She said she desired to give each of them $700, but asked Mrs. Murphy to show her good faith in the transaction by furnishing security.

Mrs. Murphy and the two women went to the First National bank where Mrs. Murphy drew out all her money, added $30, from her purse, and gave it to the smaller woman, as security, police were told.

The two women went into the bank building, returned and said they had "given all the money to a man on the fifth floor who was going to divide it between the three".

Mrs. Murphy went to the fifth floor to get her share but found no man, and when she returned to the ground floor found the two women gone.

Another Call to Duty

Service to one's Country does not stop upon discharge from the Armed Forces. There are battles to be fought here at home that require the fullest measure of devotion to duty, personal fortitude, exemplary conduct, and financial sacrifice if need be.

THE OPPORTUNITY TO SERVE AS JUDGE, to improve the lot of our children, to counsel with the unfortunates who come within the Law's Orbit, to preserve human freedom under Law and to assure the perpetuation of the American System of Justice presents no less a challenge to one who left his home and family at the time of his Country's greatest need. The only difference lies in the fact that the conditions of service are a bit more favorable when rendered on Court House Hill.

A Lawyer's motives in seeking promotion from the ranks arise out of the very essence of the legal profession. NO MAN WAS BORN A JUDGE—the office is not hereditary. We are schooled, trained, and prove our competence and worth to the public in an open forum. A Lawyer's mistakes or failings are public property. The same holds true for a Judge.

My name will appear on both the Republican and Democratic Ballots, as the candidate opposed to the Rowland machine, whose primary objective in this Election is the retention in office of Mr. Lamoree for another ten years.

I ask you to consider my candidacy for Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Lawrence County as ANOTHER CALL TO DUTY to be received in the same spirit as shown in 1942 when I volunteered in answer to a greater call to duty.

Paratrooper Of R. D. 7 Injured

Parachutes At Camp, Gets Skull Fracture

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stachowiak of R. D. 7, Mahoningtown, near Willow Grove, have returned from Fort Campbell, Ky., where they visited their daughter and son-in-law, Sgt. Walter J. Fill, Mrs. Fill and children, Bernadette and Albert.

On Thursday last, Sgt. Fill, a paratrooper, took a jump from a C-54 plane, near the camp, reached the ground by parachute, but in some manner suffered a fractured skull. He was operated on at a hospital there, where it was found he had a blood clot near the brain. His parents report that he has been in an oxygen tent for 18 hours, and has been given blood plasma several times, and is getting along as well as can be expected.

Sgt. Fill's wife and children left here Tuesday last and had secured four rooms to live with him, and the sergeant was injured on Thursday.

Sgt. Fill has been in camp since October. He had been in the reserves and was called back to service. He was a World War II veteran and served four years, was in the invasion of Normandy and in the Battle of the Bulge. Walter was twice wounded and received the Purple Heart. A brother-in-law, Joe Stachowiak served with him in the 82nd Division, and was killed in action, and another brother-in-law, Joseph Chlebowski, served in the 17th Airborne.

Junior Guild Of Jameson Hospital Launches New Plan

Do you ever wish for a different way to express your sympathy for friends and relatives who have lost a loved one? The Junior Guild of the Jameson Memorial hospital feels it has the answer.

Recently a Remembrance Fund has been established so that any person may make a monetary gift, no matter how small, to the Junior Guild as a memorial to a friend or loved one. In this way your thought becomes a permanent remembrance which has brought much comfort to the bereaved families for whom it has been done.

If you will make the gift payable to the Junior Guild Remembrance Fund and send it to the hostess shop at the Jameson Memorial hospital, cards will be sent to both the donor and the family of the person in whose name the memorial is given. These will state that a gift has been made in their name.

This fund will be used to purchase some needed piece of equipment to be used for the treatment and comfort of the patients such as an iron lung, a resuscitator, or diathermy or you may designate how you wish your gift used.

Take advantage of this service and see for yourself what comfort you will give. For what could mean more than a living memorial which will bring aid to those who need it most?

Cars will be on hand to take any students home who have no other means of transportation. Parents who do not attend may be sure the party will be well chaperoned.

Man Attempting To Fire Apartment Is Badly Burned

WHEELING, W. Va., May 29.—(INS)—A 46-year-old nearby Wheeling Island man today faced a possible death sentence for setting fire to an apartment which his estranged wife was visiting.

Wheeling hospital authorities said Sam Hughes was in fair condition from burns of the body suffered when he threw a match into the gasoline-soaked hallway of the apartment.

The resulting explosion spewed flames beyond the doorway and ignited Hughes' clothing. Police said he apparently spilled some of the gasoline on his trousers when he was soaking the hallway.

They added he looked like "a burning torch" as he fled the Wheeling Island building. Hughes is under guard at the hospital.

None of the apartment residents of Hughes' wife, Ada Jean, were injured. Mrs. Hughes, who lives in Mountsville, W. Va., has filed suit for divorce, and police said that probably was the motive for Hughes' action.

Under West Virginia law a violator may be sentenced to death for setting fire to a habitable building.

LETTUCE HEADS

NEW YORK (INS)—Firm, good heads of lettuce are now abundant at your market and should get special attention. There is a double advantage to serving lettuce at the noon-day meal. First, it's fresh and healthful and adds enjoyment to a meal that often lacks interest. And then lettuce, as the base of an attractive salad, helps make yesterday's leftovers emptying spur for today's appetite.

Control Of 17-Year
Locusts Presents
Difficult Problem

With the appearance here of 17-year locusts, or the periodical cicada, entomologists of Penn State college, state that these insects may present a serious problem in some localities, and control methods are difficult.

They may continue to emerge from now until early July, it is stated. The female makes a slit in the bark of young wood on trees and shrubs. Some of these twigs will break off. When the eggs hatch, the young drop to the ground, where they burrow into the soil and attach themselves to rootlets, forming subterranean chambers, where they suck the sap from the root and continue their long life cycle, before emerging again as adults, seventeen years later.

They will appear in or near wooded areas, and do not migrate very far. Their presence can be detected by the appearance of the shell of the nymphs, which have a brownish tinge, and are semi-transparent, with the legs attached.

Protection can be afforded young wood and shrubs by a protective covering of cheese cloth or mosquito netting.

Sprays to control them are dangerous and extreme care must be exercised in their use, requiring use of a rubber coat, rubber gloves, and a mask. More information on control methods can be procured at the office of the Lawrence County Agricultural Extension Association.

Those hatching out now are known as brood eight and made their last general appearance in 1934, although some hatch out and are observed every year.

Tells Why U.S.
Has Lost More
Planes Than Reds

By JAMES LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(INS)—Gen. Vandenberg said today the United States has lost more planes in the Korean war than the Communists because of "infinitely greater" operations and tree-top level support of ground troops.

The air chief, in testimony before senators investigating Gen. MacArthur's dismissal, explained why, as recently reported by Lt. Gen. Otto P. Weyland, United Nations losses have totaled 212 planes to 149 enemy aircraft destroyed.

Vandenberg said Red airmen are operating only five or ten miles south of the Yalu river and have no connection "with our ground forces."

Begay Navajo
Board Session

Rev. Earl E. Collins, pastor of the Bethel Baptist church, Cunningham avenue at Long was in charge of the session of the Begay Navajo Mission board conducted at the headquarters in Franklin.

Rev. James Begay, Navajo Indian, gave a report of his missionary work, expressing thanks for all that has been done in the promoting of the work in Arizona.

Plans are going ahead by the government to erect a school for the Navajo children. A southwestern Indian Bible Conference has been organized, for the purpose of instructing the Indians the Christian way of life. Investigation of the possibility of shipping water storage tanks to the field is proceeding. Rev. Begay will purchase lumber to erect buildings for the work.

GEN. VANDENBERG
CONTINUES TESTIMONY

Vandenberg replied, "I am of the opinion that we explained to Gen. MacArthur when we were discussing (them) that they were tentative and were drawn up based upon conditions as reported in his message to the joint chiefs of staff."

Republican members of the senate committee probing Gen. MacArthur's removal said they were prepared to cross-examine the air force chief intensively.

Committeemen today, together with Vandenberg, chief of naval operations in an unusual Memorial Day session Wednesday, and start Thursday the long-awaited grilling of Secretary of State Acheson.

Vandenberg declared Monday that the air force is operating on a shoestring and in view of global commitments, it should be conserved rather than spread thin. For this reason, he said, he opposed the MacArthur program for bombing the Chinese Communists.

Commercial Treaties
With Six Red Nations
May Be Abrogated

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(INS)—A Red trade ban approved by the House and Senate may result today in the abrogation of commercial treaties and agreements with six Communist nations.

The nations affected are the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria. Another result will be the almost complete stoppage of Russian trade with the United States. The president is directed to prohibit the importation of furs, Russia's last remaining export to this country of any major consequences.

The actions were agreed upon by House and Senate conferees in reaching final agreement on new legislation extending the reciprocal trade agreements law until June 12, 1953. House and Senate approval are assured, following which it goes to the White House.

MASS FLIGHT COSTLY

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—It might have been cheaper for Martin P. Bushnell to charter an airplane rather than buy tickets when he moved his family to San Francisco. Bushnell, new San Francisco council director of training for the Boy Scouts of America, paraded his wife, Jean, and eight children up to the ticket counter to make reservations for the flight.

Charges FHA Officials Seeking New Powers

HARRISBURG, May 29.—(INS)—Federal Housing officials were accused today by the Pennsylvania Realtors association of seeking new powers so wide that the housing industry could be socialized "overnight."

The new regulations, said PRA President Herbert S. Jones, of Scranton, would permit Federal Housing officials "to build any type of building wherever needed under authority so wide open that it could be used to socialize any industry—or all industry—overnight."

Traces Parallel In Hitler And Stalin Phony Peace Pleas

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 29.—(INS)—Warren R. Austin, chief U. S. delegate to the U. N. traced a parallel between Stalin and Adolf Hitler last night to point up Russian "phony peace appeals."

Addressing an international Rotarian convention, Austin told of a letter Hitler had written the late President Roosevelt in April of 1939 in answer to the President's peace appeal. Hitler's letter read:

"I wish to point out firstly that I have not conducted any war, secondly that for years past I have expressed my abhorrence of war and, it is true also, my abhorrence of warmongers, and thirdly, I am not aware for what purpose I should wage war at all."

Then, Austin noted, four months later Hitler attacked Poland in the start of World War Two.

Packard Patrician '400'—most advanced motor car in America

Car details as shown are subject to change without notice

Newest of them all....and built to stay that way!

Everywhere you look, it's not only the newest new car of the year . . . but the car most likely to stay that way!

Consider styling. Packard gives you the newest ideas in functional design—plus—traditional Packard exclusiveness that defies year-to-year "dating."

Take power. Packard Thunderbolt engines give you the peak efficiency of America's highest-compression eights. Plus: the service-free simplicity of a design with up to 25% fewer working parts than in engines of comparable power!

Or study automatic drives. Packard—and Packard alone—offers the unequalled smoothness and efficiency of Ultramatic Drive. And here again, there's service-free simplicity that puts this Drive in a durability class of its own.

Look into the rattle-proof rigidity of Packard Armor-rib body construction . . . the lastingly smooth firmness of Packard's own broad-beam suspension system . . . look deeper than you've ever looked into a car before! You'll know, then, why Packard holds motordom's most consistent durability record:

Of all the Packards built—in the last 52 years—over 50% are still in service!

Let that be your final clue to the most far-sighted good buy in the automotive field today!

Supply And Demand For Steel May Come Into Balance Soon

CLEVELAND, May 29.—(INS)—Magazine Steel reported Monday that supply and demand for steel may come into balance much sooner than is generally believed, despite substantial increases in steel prices for defense purposes.

In fact, the national metalworking trade publication pointed out, there may be a surplus for a temporary period this year because markets of consumer goods are near the saturation point and because of federal credit restrictions.

Steel added: "Mill rolling schedules are shaping up rapidly for July. Most of the mills are lining up their production plans for the month with a sizably heavier burden of defense-work projected."

The magazine said that some producers already are sufficiently committed for defense tonnage to round out their DO (defense order) rated quotas and that they are advising civilian consumers as to what tonnage they can expect to get on unrated quotas.

Steel also predicted that such allotments will be smaller for July and in all probability still smaller for August. Both large and small consumers will be hit, Steel added.

Steelmaking operations continue to be pushed at a near-record pace, but curtailments for repairs and vacation in interruptions loom just ahead. Production fell off half a point last week to 103.5 per cent of capacity.

Congress Completes Action On Funds For Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, May 29.—(INS)—Congress has completed action on a new appropriation of $6,379,673,000 for the armed forces, bringing to 48 billion dollars voted this year for the military.

The house approved senate amendments to the fourth supplemental appropriation bill and sent the measure to the White House.

The funds are for the 1951 fiscal year ending June 30. They are in addition to the 60 billion dollars requested by President Truman for the 1952 fiscal year beginning July 1. Congress has not yet acted on that appropriation.

The new military funds will be apportioned among the services as follows: army $2,847,570,000, air force $1,886,664,000, navy $1,645,439,000. The overall sum is $42,008,000 less than the defense department requested.

In addition to the military funds, the bill also contains $59,323,000 in new money for the Atomic Energy Commission and $3,672,000 for construction work of the Bonneville Power Administration.

News Briefs From City Hall

Nick Cangle appeared before council Monday, and complained of the condition of South Liberty street. He said clouds of dust whirled into homes whenever motor travel to a baseball game occurred, and when a public bus passed through the thoroughfare. He asked council to do something explaining property owners were willing to assist in the move. Councilman E. Gene Schweinsberg said the city had not oil. He said that if oil was provided the city could put it on the street.

Malik Denies Reports Of Peace Feelers

FLUSHING MEADOW, N. Y., May 29.—(INS)—Soviet delegate Jacob Malik broke silence Monday on recurrent reports of peace feelers by Russia to deny that such a move is contemplated, or has been made, by his government for ending the Korean war at the 38th parallel.

Malik authorized the secretary of the Soviet delegation to tell inquiring correspondents that all rumors of "Russian peace feelers" are "groundless."

Today's Fashion Flash

By PHYLLIS BATTLE

NEW YORK, May 29.—(INS)—High-heeled pumps, all softness and suede, were introduced today as the latest shoe idea for lady loungers.

The "bottoms up" shoes, designed by fashion academy award winner David Evans, are sophisticated as evening pumps. Seductive as boudoir slippers. And comfy as three-year-old moccasins.

They are constructed to look exactly like a dressy shoe, but stiffening, toe boxes, and leather fixtures are left out. The result is an all-over suede pump that clings to the foot and is completely pliable.

Evin shows the shoe trimmed with velvet, rhinestones, or iridescent elasticized fabric around the foot opening.

The three-inch heels are covered with velvet, sparkle, or iridescent shimmer to match.

"Wow," exclaimed Willie at the church social. "Looks that fat lady with Mrs. Smithers! I bet she weighs 600 pounds." Willie's mother boxed his ear soundly and complained. "Willie, I've told you 20 million times that I'm sick and tired of your exaggerating."

Commenting on the growth of radio quiz and jackpots, Joey Adams thinks they're going to have to change the names of programs like "Break the Bank" to "Break the Sponsor." "Once upon a time," complains Adams, "the $64 question was a grand climax. Today a contestant won't even give his name for $64." Adams is trying to interest one of the networks in a "state" quiz. The M. C. holds up a handful of dirt and if a member of the audience can guess what state it comes from, he gets the whole state as a prize. "This quiz course," points out Joey, "this quiz can only be used for 48 programs. After that, we'll have to move it to Europe."

Hemlock Trees Hurt By Pests

Hemlock Loopers Active In County

Dark stands of dead hemlock trees standing out in spots against the new green leaves of other deciduous trees along the banks of the Slippery Rock valley, bear mute evidence of the advance already made by the Hemlock Loopers in Lawrence county.

Sadly defoliated hemlocks struggling to project new growth at the tips of the leafless branches indicate the rapid spread of the infestation on all sides of the trees already dead. Swarms of dark smoky grey moths identified as L. athasaria take flight as one walks through the stands of hemlock in the infected areas.

During a preliminary survey of the valley in Lawrence county, by J. V. Schaffner and T. McIntyre, Entomologists, U. S. Department of Agriculture, C. A. Bittinger of the department of Forests and Waters and Carl Leathers of New Castle; samplings were taken of several areas.

Emerging Now
It was explained that the female moths which are now emerging will lay up to 250 eggs, light green in color and later changing to brown; which will hatch out into larvae or loopers late in June or early in July. Born a dull white with brownish heads, they begin eating the needles of the hemlocks and quickly grow to about 1 1/4 inches in length, turning yellowish with dark brown markings. They remain active until late October. Complete defoliation of a hemlock will kill it the first year attacked.

The usual method of combatting the looper is by spraying from airplanes during the early part of August. The cost averages about $1.50 per acre.

Intensive surveys and examinations are necessary before the area can be sprayed. Fish and wildlife must be considered in the examination of the area before recommendations can be made. The property owners of the district initiate the activity.

Great earthquakes are most frequent in volcanic areas, and particularly near the mountainous edges of continents where they meet the ocean.

To Launch Building Fund Campaign For Roselia Hospital

For the past sixty years, the Roselia Foundling and Maternity hospital has given shelter and understanding care to members of most every community of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Because of the secret nature of the work, little publicity has been given to this service, but many persons have found solace and help in the protected environment of the institution.

A new era has now begun for Roselia. The Variety club of Pittsburgh has adopted the institution and on June 3 will begin a campaign for a building fund. Over WDTV from 10 p.m. to 3 a.m., Ed Sullivan, Joe E. Brown, Wayne Griffith, and other outstanding television stars will appear on Roselia's behalf. The Catherine Variety Fund will take up its headquarters at the Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa. Help this institution get modern fire proof buildings so that it can extend its services further and more efficiently to those in need.

Since Roselia has opened its doors, 21,141 children have been cared for. Nearly 15,000 mothers have been administered to. Currently, 110 babies and 33 mothers are under care, and many are waiting for service.

Every effort is made to give the babies at the institution as much individual attention as possible. Each child's progress is noted, and if the baby seems to be retarded, the baby is given special attention.

The attitude toward the mothers is one of constructive sympathy. An attempt is made to understand the girls, their background, and problems, and to give understanding and encouragement during this time of difficulty, so that she can achieve peace of mind and a solution to her problem.

Indians Meet Lockport Tonight, Oil City In Twin-Bill Wednesday

Rudy York Will Bring Team Here; Afternoon, Night Games Tomorrow

The New Castle Indians have a holiday double-date with Rudy York and his slugging Oil City Refiners at Flaherty Memorial Field. The afternoon game tomorrow starts at 2:30 o'clock, the night game at 7:30 o'clock, owing to the Chicago fight between Charles and Maxim.

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Indians have a date with Billy Mongiello and his Lockport Locks, at Flaherty Field, if the rain goes away. The New Castle-Lockport game Monday night was called off due to wet grounds.

Klafter, Bickel, Rossman Ready

Manager Al Milnar has Paul Klafter set for mound duty tonight against Lockport in the final game of the current series, and will use Lee Bickel and Ben Rossman in the split-twin bill with the Oil City club here Memorial Day.

The Indians now 11 games off the top, and battling for third place with Lockport will make every effort over the holiday to improve their standing, and could go into second place with three victories. The Erie Sailors topped Oil City 5-4 last night, for their 18th straight win. Lockport moves to Erie for two games tomorrow. Butler plays two at Niagara Falls.

The Middle-Atlantic league race is now developing into a bitter fight for the three places in the playoffs, that is, contending that Erie can keep up the torrid pace. The first four teams will battle in the fall for the title. Erie is bound to crack sooner or later.

Pitchers Feared York
New Castle baseball fans will have their first chance to see the slugging Rudy York tomorrow. York, a former Detroit Tiger and Boston Red Sox star, was once feared by all American league pitchers, wielding a mean bat at the plate.

York since leaving the Red Sox has been playing and managing in the minor leagues. He isn't as fast as he used to be but he still can clout them plenty far.

York, now managing the Refiners, is playing first base and doing catching duty when needed.

Starting Early Tomorrow Night
The night game tomorrow is being started at 7:30 o'clock in order that the fans get home in time to watch the Ezzard Charles-Joe Maxim heavyweight title fight from Chicago, which will go on about 10 o'clock EDT.

Another familiar face in the Oil City lineup here tomorrow will be Chuck Harig, former Youngstown slugging star who led the league in home runs two years ago. Harig is playing left field this year and is still a great hitter.

The Youngstown franchise has now settled in Oil City and the league is strictly a Pennsylvania-New York affair.

Indians Need Support
The Indians idle now for two days will be well rested and ready to tear into the second month of league play starting tomorrow.

It is up to the fans of New Castle to get back of the Indians if they want organized baseball to remain in this city. So far the attendance has not been good. Baseball teams can only operate on the dictates of the game.

White Sox Top Browns, Take First Place In AL

Cards Move Up, Edge Bucs 6-5

Red Sox Top Yanks, Indians Scalp Tigers

By HOWARD SIGMANT

NEW YORK, May 29.—Thirty-two years is a long time to wait for anything, especially a baseball pennant. But Chicago White Sox fans won't mind it a bit if their favorite team just stays where it is in the American league for the rest of the season.

For the White Soxers are right up there in first place today on the long end of a sensational 12-game winning streak and gaining more fame for the Windy City than Mrs. O'Leary's cow.

White Sox Lead
The mayor gave the paleose the city yesterday and miracle man Paul Richards and his guys responded last night by taking top spot in the loop away from the New York Yankees and giving it to Chicago via a 4 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns. It was their 18th win in their last 20 games.

In Boston the Red Sox came out best over the Yankees, 3 to 2.

Feller Wins Sixth
Cleveland's Bob Feller turned in another tremendous mound effort to gain his sixth win in seven decisions. The veteran righty tossed a six-hit shutout as the Indians belted the Detroit Tigers 9 to 0 with a 16-hit barrage that included a homer by Luke Easter.

The Washington-Philadelphia game was rained out.

The Brooklyn Dodgers maintained their 2½ game lead in the National league by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies, 4 to 3, on Carl Furillo's nine-inning homer.

Cards Top Pirates
The St. Louis Cardinals moved into undisputed possession of second place by scoring a ten-inning 6 to 5 win over the tail-end Pittsburgh Pirates. Rookie Tom Poholsky won his fourth game in a battle of homers.

Stan Musial hit his ninth of the year with two men on in the first inning for the Redbirds and starting pitcher Cliff Chambers, Ralph Kiner (No. 10) and George Metkovich connected for the Pirates.

Boston's Braves, with Warren Spahn hurling seven-hit ball, snapped a four-game winning streak by the New York Giants as they beat the Durochermen 4 to 1.

The Cincinnati-Chicago game was rained out.

Sylvan Heights Loop

Will Play Tonight

Sylvan Heights golf league will meet tonight for its regular match at 6 p.m. The match has been moved up to tonight because of Memorial Day Wednesday.

Schedule for this evening finds Eagles vs. Gargasz, Shamrocks vs. Shenango Pottery, United Engineering vs. Standard Steel Spring, American vs. Coopers.

To make room for Mays the Giants sent infielder Artie Wilson to their Ottawa farm team in the International league.

Unis-Indies Clash Today

Elliott Vs. Fees

At McClelland Field

Games at 6 P.M. Today

West Pittsburgh at Croton.

Elliott vs. Fees, McClelland field.

Universal vs. Indies, Chmura field.

Bessemer at Hillsville.

DeCarbo Bombers at Wampum.

Top game in the City Baseball loop at six p.m. today, will find Nick Genov's Universals, 4-2, opposed to Hoss Zifow's Lawrence Indies, 4-3. As a result of this game, and others, the league's complexion may change.

In another game, two ex-county clubs, Bessemer and Hillsville will clash. Martin may twirl for Bessemer, 3-3, while Hillsville, 4-2, hasn't named the moundman. However, they have been playing good ball.

Elliott, the league leaders, will meet an improved Fees. The Fees, 3-3, are apt to give Monk Rainey's outfit considerable trouble. Frank, Beatrice or Agamo may twirl for the leaders.

DeCarbo who occupy the cellar with all games lost, will travel to Wampum, 3-3, while Croton will play West Pittsburgh at Croton. Croton has been jinxed, apparently, having won three, then lost their last three games.

Fastest Field In Indianapolis History Ready

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 29.—The fastest field in history will follow the Chrysler Firepower convertible pace car across the starting line Wednesday morning (May 30) at 10 o'clock (CST) as the 35th annual 500-mile race gets under way.

David A. Wallace, president of the Chrysler division of Chrysler Motors, will be at the wheel of the pace car. Wilbur Shaw—a three-time winner of the race before he became president and general manager of the Speedway in 1945—will be the only passenger.

Approximately four hours later, the winner of the $200,000 international speed classic will be greeted in Victory Lane with a kiss from glamorous Loretta Young, the movie queen selected this year to present the Borg-Warner trophy.

Ezzard Charles Favored To Retain Title In Joe Maxim Bout Wednesday

By KEN OPSTEIN

(I. N. S. Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, May 29.—Heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles defends his title against light heavyweight boss Joe Maxim in a 15-round bout at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night that may have more publicists than punches.

Six drum beaters are flooding newspaper offices, radio and television station with reams of stories which extol the knockout blows of the two fighters.

May Go Limit

But the match is likely to go full route. There were no knockouts in three previous fights between the two, so there is little reason to expect one this time.

The scrap is expected to be close, however, since the two 10-rounders in 1942 and the 15-rounders in 1949 were that way. Maxim lost in each instance but the referee named him the winner all three times.

Charles is a 5-to-2 favorite at the moment. The odds earlier were 3 to 1 but they may drop to as low as 9 to 5 by fight time.

The two boxers are about even in weight and age. Both the champion and the challenger are 29 years old. Each expects to enter the ring at somewhere between 180 and 185 pounds.

Eighth Title Defense
Charles will be making his eighth title defense since he succeeded Joe Louis as the heavyweight king in June, 1949.

Maxim has not yet risked the 175-pound championship which he won by knocking out Freddie Mills in London on Jan. 24, 1950. The Cleveland cutie has had seven non-title fights since that time.

Charles was the last man to defeat Maxim and that was on Feb. 28, 1949.

Promoter Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club hopes to have a crowd of 10,000 fans at the stadium and a gross gate of $100,000. Television and radio will bring the match to an estimated 10 million other persons.

Inverness Will Draw Golf Stars

TOLEDO, O., May 29.—(INS)—The field was set today for the $15,000 Inverness Invitational golf tournament scheduled for June 21-24 at Toledo.

Officials last night announced entries of four crack professionals—Jimmy Demaret, Roberto De Vincenco of Buenos Aires, E. J. Duff, Harrison and Dr. Cary Middlecott.

Others listed for the 14th annual invitational are Sam Snead, Jim Ferrier, Lloyd Mangrum, Fred Haas, Clayton Haefner, Marty Furgol, Johnnie Palmer, Al Brosch, Jack Burke, Peter Cooper, Henry Ransom and Porky Oliver.

North County Games Tonight

All action in the North County League was postponed Monday evening, due to the weather conditions and games will probably be played tonight.

The East Brook-New Wilmington tilt has definitely been rescheduled for tonight, and though no word has been received from the other teams in the league it is probable that they will play tonight, weather permitting.

The Volant-St. Lucy game, scheduled for last Friday evening, was postponed due to a death in the family of several St. Lucy players, it is reported.

Games Wednesday

Volant at Eden-Hilliers.

East Brook at Pulaski.

St. Lucy at New Wilmington.

LITTLE LOOP PRACTICE

Fourth ward Little Big league team will practice at 5 p.m. on Wednesday.

Greenville Kiwanis To Present Horse Show Memorial Day

Second annual Kiwanis Horse Show will be held at the Greenville Livestock market, one mile east of Greenville, on May 30, Memorial Day, beginning at 1:00 o'clock.

Eighteen classes will be shown in this show which is for the benefit of underprivileged children in and around Greenville.

Inter-County Horseman's Association rules will be followed and winners will receive points for their seasonal total as well as cash awards.

Jake Mintz recently reported that Ezzard Charles, world's heavyweight boxing king, didn't look too good in training for his May 30 fight with Joey Maxim in Chicago, a statement which may be lightly accepted. . . Jim Cross, who cottages near Ramblers Rest, has taken his share of trout from the Slippery Rock creek this season. He reports a big carp lurks above Jim Cook's cottage along the creek. . . Scorers desiring to ascertain averages can follow these rules: club standing, divide number of games won (adding decimal point and three ciphers) by total number of games played. Batting percentages: divide number of first base hits by number of times at bat, and fielding percentages, divide number of chances accepted (put-outs and assists) by total chances (put-outs, assists and errors). Passed balls are not counted as a chance (or errors) for the catcher. Oddity: Two Bob Smiths are hurling for Scranton of the Eastern League. . . Recently some former ring champs assembled to honor Sam Taub, boxing bout announcer, who years ago was a member of the New York Morning Telegraph sports staff. He is one announcer who knows boxing. . . Stormyway, a pacer, recently turned in a 2:01 2-5 at Fort Miami's meeting, which was the fastest mile this year by a harness horse. . . Special Touch, four-year-old filly, racing on the West Coast, was in five races and was rode to victory an equal number of times by Willie Shoemaker. . . Sunny Fitzsimmons, famed trainer of horses, has turned in 1,500 winners who won more than five million dollars in his half a century on the track.

Registration Down From 1950

Lists Show Loss
Of 1728 Voters

Efforts to interest citizens in registering for voting in Lawrence county seem to have fallen flat. With but a few days left to register, the total registration today is 1728 lower than it was in November 1950.

For the November election in 1950 the total registration was 45,879. Today it is 44,151. About 3000 names were withdrawn from the lists after the November election for not having voted in two years last past.

Some of them reinstated themselves but many did not. In addition there are hundreds of voters who have come of age since then but the total registration is down.

During the week ending May 26, 130 new registrations were listed, 98 of them Republican, 30 of them Democrat and 2 Independent. Eighteen Democrats changed from Democrat to Republican and 8 changed from Republican to Democrat.

As the registration stands now there are 29,679 Republicans registered and 14,139 Democrats.

This is the last week to register. The Registration Office will be open until 9 o'clock on Thursday and Friday nights but on Saturday, June 2 the office closes at noon. That ends the registration for the July 24 primary.

BRAHAM SENTENCES TWO
